Reach people planning a garden room in Ireland

Independent guides to garden rooms and garden homes: the planning rules, real prices and what to ask before you buy.

Who reads it

Homeowners in Ireland who are close to buying. They come to us with questions like "do I need planning permission for a garden room?", "how much does a 20 m² garden room cost?" and "can my parents live in a garden home?"

A garden room typically costs €10,000 to €60,000, and a Class 3A garden home €50,000 to over €100,000. We advise readers to get two or three quotes, so being on their shortlist matters.

Ways to advertise

Featured in your county

A labelled Featured spot at the top of the company list on your county page, and on your own company page.

- Up to three per county
- Prices and a contact link on your company page
- Any of the 8 counties we cover

Featured across the guides

Everything in a county listing, plus a Featured spot in the company panel at the end of every guide.

- Seen on all 70 guides
- Limited to three companies at a time
- Our widest reach

Tool sponsorship

A "supported by" credit with your logo on one of our free tools, such as the cost estimator.

- One sponsor per tool
- The tool and its results stay independent
- Suits suppliers and finance providers

Rates depend on the placement and county. Founding rates are available to the first companies to advertise.

How we keep it fair

Readers trust us because we're independent, and that's what makes advertising here worth paying for.

Always labelled

Every paid placement is clearly marked Featured or Sponsored.

Fair free listings

Other companies' free listings stay in alphabetical order.

Advice stays independent

Advertising never changes our guides, prices or advice.

No paid rankings

We don't sell reviews or "best of" lists, and we can decline ads that don't fit.
